■ The ELN website is in compliance with the HONcode

As in previous years the website of the European LeukemiaNet successfully passed the quality check of the Health On the Net Foundation (HON). The HONcode certificate is awarded to websites that coincide with the 8 principles of the HONcode of Conduct (authority, complementarity, confidentiality, attribution, justifiability, transparency, financial disclosure and advertising policy). For detailed information on this quality label please click on the HONcode logo on the ▶ ELN homepage.

■ Revision of the ELN website

The ELN website is a vital part of the communication structures of the network. Since no funding is available for the website, the ELN steering board agreed on the revision of the internet platform aiming to create a lean and up-to-date web presence. The revision will be carried out gradually in the course of next year. As a first step, the European Leukemia Trial Registry (ELTR), which cannot be updated any more, has been blanked out. The website as well as the e-newsletter and the Information Letter continue to be available for the announcement of new projects and trials. ▶ visit the ELN website

■ MDS-RIGHT

As part of European Horizon 2020 program, the MDS-RIGHT project (Providing the right care to the right patient with myelodysplastic syndrome at the right time) funded with 6 million Euros by the European Union has started in 2015. As partner of MDS-RIGHT, the European LeukemiaNet actively contributes to guideline development, dissemination, exploitation, and communication, using ELN's experience in successfully setting up an expert network.
